HUMAN HAIR. CURLING OF THE HEAD AND HAIR.

IT IS a fact that persons who attend strictly to personal cleanliness, baths, &c. should get the Head Hair the most essential the most exposed, and the most beautiful when properly cared for, of all the gifts of the Creator. Perfectly free may it be kept of dandruff or scurf with the use of the Balm of Columbia. Ladies, will you make your toilet without this? I answer fearlessly, No, if you have once tried and experienced its purifying effects, its sweet perfume.

A hundred articles have been put forth on the credit of this the only first the only really valuable article. A mass of testimony from all classes to these facts.

LOOK OUT! Counterfeits are abroad; look always for the name of COMSTOCK & Co. on the splendid wrappers, and never buy it without that name.

[From the Boston Chronicle, Jan. 1841.]

We see by an advertisement in another column that Messrs. Comstock & Co., the Agents for Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, have deputed to sell that article in Boston and elsewhere. We know a lady of this city whose hair was so nearly gone as to expose entirely her phrenological developments, which, considering that they bestowed a most amiable disposition, was not in reality very unfortunate. Nevertheless she mourned the loss of locks that she had worn, and after a year's fruitless search to mis-called restoratives, purchased some months ago, a bottle or two of Oldridge's Balm, and she has now ringlets in rich profusion, glossy, and of raven blackness. We are not putting none of the commodity has been sent to us, and, indeed, we do not want any, for though we were obliged to wear a wig a year ago, we have now, through its virtue, hair enough, and of a passable quality, of our own.

Daring Fraud.
The Balm of Columbia has been imitated by a notorious counterfeiter. Let it never be purchased or used unless it have the signature of COMSTOCK & Co. on a splendid wrapper. This is the only certain test that will secure the public from deception.

The prices for land in these Townships will vary according to the situation and quality of the lots, not less however than fifty cents, and probably not exceeding one dollar per acre.

The land will be sold upon a credit of four yearly payments, with interest, the three first payments to be expended in labor on the roads in the Township where the land is situated, under the direction of the Land Agent, and the last payment to be in cash. Each purchaser will be required by the terms of his deed, within said four years to build a house on his lot, and to clear in a proper manner fifteen acres, ten or more of which shall be laid down to grass.

Whenever twenty, or a less number of persons shall give a satisfactory bond to the Land Agent, that they will within three years erect a substantial Saw and Grist Mill in said Township, each of said persons will be entitled to a deed of one lot of land, subject to the performance of the settling duties above mentioned, and the Company will be entitled to a deed of the mill lot.

Not more than four lots will be sold to any one person in any township or tract.

The Arrostook Road has been completed this year, to the Arrostook River, and as that river is navigable for boats, a good communication is now opened to the settler for an easy access to each of the above mentioned Townships.

Saw and Grist Mills have been erected and are now in operation in Township Letter F, Range 2, No. 9, Range 4, and No. 11, Range 5; and contracts have been made for the erection of Mills, the ensuing year, in Township No. 9, Range 6, No. 11, Range 6, and in Letter D, Range 1.

There has been a steady demand for settling land through the season, and more lots have been sold than in any former year. As the United States have recently established a post near the mouth of the Arrostook, and another at the mouth of Fish River, and have sent a Company of soldiers to each, new roads will undoubtedly be soon opened through this section of the State, mail routes established, new markets opened for produce, and the settler will feel additional security from any border difficulty.

With the known fertility of the soil, the advantage of good roads and mills, and the rapid settlement of this part of the State, it is believed that a most favorable opportunity is now offered to young men who wish to become farmers, to secure themselves good locations, where in a few years, by industry and economy, they cannot fail to secure to themselves an honorable competency.

ELIJAH L. HAMLIN,
Land Agent of Maine.

The following newspapers are requested to publish the above notice weekly, for two months, and forward their bills to the Land Office for payment. MYSTERIOUS.
A GENTLEMAN belonging to one of the most ancient and wealthy families of this city, who must be well known to numerous friends, having since the year 1818 up to recently, been nearly double, and for several years confined to his bed, has been restored to good health, has regained his natural erect position, and has quitted his carriage, and now walks with ease. We believe this is the gentleman's own description as near as possible, and there is no exaggeration in it. We will give inquirers his address, and doubt not his humane feelings will excuse the liberty; so that any one desiring may know these facts, though he requests his name may not appear in print. Among other similar instances, Mr. James G. Reynolds, 64 Christie street, has been restored, and will give personal assurances of the facts of his case. Both were rheumatism, and contracted cards and sinews. How has this been done?

Answer. By Hays' Nerve and Bone Liniment externally. Sold by COMSTOCK & Co. 71 Maiden Lane, New York.

LIVER COMPLAINTS, AND ALL SICKNESS & DISEASES.
DR. LIN'S
Temperance Life-Bitters,
AND CHINESE BLOOD-PILLS.

The Greatest Secret Discovered!
Purge purge purge has been the cry for the last few years. This has been effectually tried, and yet sufferers have multiplied and died; and why? Not because purging was not necessary, but too much has been done without the least to follow, and sustain the system. Purge, you must! The sickly humors of the blood must be carried off, or the accumulation of them prevented. Prevent them, the growth of such humors.

Why do the Chinese live to such immense ages, and still retain the powers of youth or middle age? Because they purify the blood. The Chinese Blood Pills so called because they work upon and cleanse the blood—the standard remedy. These Pills will do it; and the Temperance Bitters, taken as directed, will strengthen the system and prevent the accumulation of the base humors which infest the blood, and which only increase by purges, unless the Bitters are taken after. Buy, then, these Pills and Bitters. Take weekly the Pills and daily the Bitters; and if you are or have been invalids for days, weeks, months, or years, you will find the sickly humors drawn off, and prevented from a return, and the sultry yellow bile of sickness change rapidly to the full blooming glow of health and youthful buoyancy.

Here are cases so numerous of those brilliant effects, that time and space forbid an attempt to put them down. Buy and use these medicines, and use no other, and health and strength shall be yours. See wrapper and directions that come with them.

FRAUDULENT COUNTERFEITS
will be attempted. Buy no remedy of the kind unless it have my name O. C. LIN, M. D. on the wrapper, and also the notice as follows:

Entered according to Act of Congress, A. D. 1841, by THOS. CORNELL, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York.

Warranted the only genuine. Messrs. Comstock & Co., New York, are the sole wholesale Agents for the United States and all neighboring countries.

TO THE OLD AND YOUNG.
Ho! Ye Red Heads & Grey!
PHENOMENON IN CHEMISTRY.
Fast India Hair Dye.

Colors the Hair and will not the Skin!!
THIS Dye is in form of a Powder which in plain manner of fact may be applied to the Hair every night; the first night turning the lightest red or grey hair to a dark brown, and by repeating a second or third night, to a bright jet black. Any person may, therefore, with the least possible trouble, keep his hair any dark shade or a perfect black, with a positive assurance that the powder, if applied to the skin, will not color it. There is no trouble in repeating it from the hair, as in all powders before made. By an occasional application, a person turning grey will never be known to have a grey hair! Directions complete with the article. There is no coloring in this statement, as one can easily test.

These facts are warranted by the gentleman who manufactures it, who is the celebrated chemist, Dr. Comstock, author of Comstock's Chemistry, Philosophy, and many other works well known and widely celebrated by the public.

This Dye is sold by COMSTOCK & Co., 71 Maiden Lane, New York.

New Reading-Book for Schools.
THE MONITORIAL READER, or a Monitor to Youth, holding up to their view Models whereby to form their own Characters. By DANIEL ADAMS, Author of Adams's New Arithmetic.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PREFACE.
"THE MONITORIAL READER possesses distinctive traits. The object is to supply what is believed to be the great desideratum in our schools, a series of exercises relating to what concerns the practical matters of life—truth, integrity, honesty, industry, temperance, foresight, frugality, patient endurance of adversity, and whatever else tends to form and fix the character of youth."

We wish to impress it on the minds of those, into whose hands these exercises shall come, now, in this seed-time of life, what is here so abundantly incited, that every man, emphatically the architect of his own fortune, that with themselves it lies whether they shall ever be any thing or nothing, that a moneyed capital to begin with does not weigh a whit in the balance, for or against them, that, coming into life with health, strength, capacity for labor, good education, a useful and respectable trade, habits of industry, sobriety, punctuality, frugality, and above all, with a GOOD AND UNSELLED CHARACTER, they have the best of all capital—a moral capital, the noblest of all power, moral power, and the most certain means of honest and honorable accumulation and fortune, and may be sure, under circumstances ordinarily propitious, to rise to that competency of independence, respect, and general confidence, and that honorable measure of wealth and independence, which should fully satisfy a reasonable and virtuous ambition."

EXTRACTS FROM RECOMMENDATIONS.
The influence will all be found on the side of virtue, morality and religion. Occasional comments are given. Difficult or unusual words are defined. Prose and poetry are suitably intermingled. It is hardly to be imagined that this book should fail of popularity. It certainly would not, had it not so many competitors that have got the start of it in the race. As it is, its motto is such as to give it fair promise of ultimate success in the contest. Boston Recorder.

Dr. Adams: Having examined to some extent your Monitorial Reader, I am pleased with its plan, its object, and the manner in which it has been executed. It seems adapted to the intellectual and moral improvement of those for whose use it was designed. I trust it will prove to be what its author fondly anticipates.

(Rev.) Z. S. BARTON, Keene.

It is just such a book as our New England boys and girls will be glad to see, for it inculcates in a pleasing manner, industry, frugality, truth, honesty, temperance, peace, kindness, fortitude, and a cheerful piety. The Vocabulary, at the end, and the arrangement for defining words, will add to its value in the hands of a judicious teacher.

(Rev.) ABEL A. LIVERMORE, Keene.

We have also recommendations from a number of individuals and periodicals, among which are D. Crosby, Preceptor of the High School, Nashua; J. Newton Brown, Professor of Theology at New Hampton. It is also adopted by the Association of School Teachers in Cheshire and Hillsborough counties, and by the School Committee of Concord.

About 3000 copies have been published, and mostly disposed of.

THE OLD VEGETABLE OR GERMAN PILLS.

POSITIVE, OR NO PAY.
THESE are highly recommended by Dr. Valentine, M.D., of the city of New York. A medicine to prevent the attacks of disease, to keep the system in healthy action, and to eradicate as soon as possible every disease as soon as it appears, has been the great study of medical men for many years without success. The subscriber, however, not expecting his Pills to cure all the ills which flesh is heir to, confidently recommends them as certain and efficacious in the following: Headache, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Cholera, bilious, remittent, and intermittent Fevers, diseases of the Liver, and Spleen, Female Obstructions, Rheumatism, Cold Stomach, Diarrhoea of the Head, Loss of Appetite, Weakness, and trembling of the Limbs, Nausea, sickness, and the Stomach, Flushings of the Face, Summer Complaints, Measles, Scarlet Rash, and will be found invaluable in complaints of the Digestive Organs, and particularly those arising from impurity of the blood.

As a preventive against Fevers, no persons should go to a warm climate without a box of these Pills; they are entirely of vegetable ingredients, and can be taken safely without fear. Price, 37 1/2 cents a box.

For sale at A. GEYER'S Drug Store, 104 Hanover street, corner of Salem street, Boston, General Agent for the N. E. States, and may be had at most of the Drug Stores in the U. S. and in the Canadas.

The genuine Pills have the written signature of MERRITT GRIFFIN on each box.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1841.

The North-Eastern Boundary and the survey of the United States Commissioners.

The St. John (N. B.) Courier has caught the spirit of dissatisfaction probably from the Woodstock Telegraph, and pretends to find cause of complaint in the fact that Major Graham and the other Engineers are running the line by an astronomical survey, and even suggests that notwithstanding permission to run the line as an expert survey has been granted by the Provincial Executive, the survey should not be allowed to proceed north of the St. John. And in this opinion the editor is confident that he expresses the universal feeling of the people of New Brunswick.

Featherstonhaugh and Mudge, on the part of the British were allowed to ramble unmolested wherever their fancy and their fancy instruments directed, without hindrance or complaint. Their report has already been proved a document in which no confidence can be placed a downright humbug of the fillest kind. This will yet be shown to the world, and hence perhaps the uneasiness of the Provincials when they see a survey going on which for accuracy cannot be surpassed.

What the Courier says about Maine and Gov. Fairfield, taking immediate notice of it, and all that sort of thing, is thrown in as a little dust to blink the true question and to afford a pretext for interfering with the survey. That our readers may be informed of the feeling in the Province relative to the Boundary, we insert the article of the Courier. It says—

"We believe it is generally known that an expert survey of the due north line from the monument, as claimed by the American Government, has been going on under Major Graham and other officers of the United States Topographical Engineers, but we believe that the mode of carrying on that survey is not yet fully understood. We therefore have to state that the American Surveyors are running and marking the line by the Transit instrument, or as we understand it, making an astronomical survey, they having found on trial that such would give them a considerable advantage by carrying a new line considerably to the eastward of the line established by the joint survey of the Boundary Commissioners many years ago. A short time since we learned that this new line had been extended as far north as the Arctostook River, where it was 750 yards (nearly half a mile) to the eastward of the former line, and of course interfered seriously with private rights. In one instance, it was said, the owners of the land had resisted the survey, thrown down the observatory and driven off the Commissioners and his Surveyors. We now hear that the line has been extended nearly to the St. John, and that it will cross that river more than half a mile below the former line, but a very short distance above the Military Post at the Grand Falls. We offer no opinion as to the expediency or propriety of allowing this new line to be run and marked, because permission to do so was granted by our Executive, and we trust it was on good and sufficient grounds, but we cannot refrain from expressing a decided disapproval of allowing the American Surveyors to continue their line north of the St. John. On this point we feel certain that we merely express the universal feeling of the people of this Province, who see clearly that the running of this line will eventually lead to very unpleasant consequences, and that in the mean time it tends to unsettle, disturb and harass a large number of Her Majesty's loyal subjects, who, being settled near the border, ought by no means to be disquieted in their possessions, or allowed for one moment to entertain a doubt of their perfect security. There is another view of this matter which should not be overlooked. The General Government of the United States say that this line is run by them ex parte only, and merely for information, but the State of Maine treats it very differently, and appears to consider this survey as establishing the line by which they mean to abide. It is generally understood, if not already avowed, that when Gov. Fairfield is sworn into office next January, he intends to take possession up to the new line, and settle the lands with the least possible delay. Such a course would produce instant collision, from which we hope long to be spared, but it can hardly be avoided if this survey, which Maine is fully disposed and quite determined to consider final, is allowed to proceed.

We feel that the subject is of grave and serious import at the present moment, and therefore entertain a confident hope that it will be met promptly and fairly by our Executive, and settled in such manner as to ensure the continued tranquility of the Province.

Editorial Changes.

We learn that ERASTUS BROOKS, Esq., late editor of the Portland Advertiser has become co-editor and partner in the New York Express establishment. Mr. Brooks possesses talent of a high order as an editor, and will, in his new and enlarged sphere prove a valuable auxiliary, and find full scope for the exercise of his fidelity and zeal in the cause of his country, and we trust will reap that reward of commendation, and that measure of prosperity which he can so well earn and so richly merit.

His place in the Portland Advertiser has been supplied by a gentleman well qualified to perform the task.

It will be seen by a card in our columns to-day, that OYSTER S. BEALE, proposes to teach the art of writing to all members of the Mechanical Association, who may need his services. Mr. Beale is a good penman, and wishing to do a good thing, will instruct without pay. All who are desirous of attending a course of lessons are invited to assemble at the Mechanics' Hall this evening.

The Pictorial Herald states that there are upwards of 250 men now engaged in lumbering on the Moose Head Lake. There seems to be a spirit of enterprise in "going ahead" in the lumbering trade. Success to Commerce, Agriculture and the Fisheries. May the hardy boys soon reap the benefit of his labors.

If you have a little proper pride which makes you slightly ashamed to put boards over the cracks on the outside of your barns where every passer by can see them then put them within. This will add much to the comfort of your cows and oxen and comfort is very economical food.

REV. JEREMIAH CHAPLIN, who has been invited to take the pastoral charge of the Baptist Church, in this city, has accepted of that trust, and will preach here to-morrow.

The Boston Daily Mail has been enlarged and has a new suit. It does indeed look quite smart.

As soon as the nights grow quite cool, let your milk cows have shelter, either in the barn or in good sheds. Sensations of cold and shivering are never accompanied by a good flow of milk.

Do the best you can to keep your pigs warm. Do it for mercy's sake and do it for profit's sake.

The Giraffe, belonging to the menagerie of June, Titus, Angevine & Co, died last week in Centreville New York. The Wayne Sentinel says: "On the day of exhibition shortly after it was let out of its cage, it suddenly became unwell, apparently lost the power of its limbs, and fell to the ground. All the means that human skill could devise were applied to save the life of the interesting animal, but in vain. It was valued at $2500, and was the last we believe of the importation."

[From the N. Y. American.]

American Authors in England.

Irving, Channing, Cooper, Bancroft, (Thomas Campbell), American Tourists, Willis, Mrs. Sigourney, Miss Sedgwick, Duffell Webster.

MY DEAR C. You request me to tell you how the writings of Irving, Cooper, Bryant, and Willis are regarded in the Father Land. I hardly dare give you the results of my brief and hasty observations on so delicate a topic. Before whispering a few words in your friendly ear, I tolerate two or three preliminary observations. Like your lequacious old friend, Deacon B. in the Massachusetts Legislature, who commenced his maiden effort with "Mr. Speaker, I wish to say a few words before I begin to speak."

You will not expect me to deny that the standard of literary excellence is loftier in Great Britain than in the United States. To dispute this truth with the air and tone of a bragart, establishes in the estimation of disinterested and candid observers, the very position it seeks to disprove. Such vaporing is too often dignified by American editors, with the name of patriotism, when it is the mere puffings and swellings of an offended national pride, the most offensive form in which pique and vanity can make themselves ridiculous. Destitute alike of common sense and candor, it is equally removed from high-minded love of country, the strutting off-spring of a narrow prejudice against every thing not of domestic growth. That man may be the wiser who is yet to learn that the terms, eminent lawyer, eloquent orator, brilliant poet, ripe scholar, profound philosopher, mean something more in London than in Lexington. That equal talent and more knowledge are diffused through our population, from the St. John's to the Sabine, than exist between John O'Grady's House, and Land's End is true; but these intellectual treasures are not congregated in such heaps (if I may so speak) in America, as in England. This is our glory and her shame; our blessing and her bane. And do we envy foreigners their curses, even? Knowledge and talent with us are diffused with sunshine prodigality, like rights and wealth. Not so England. They centre in the few. We are not only all created equal, but are born quasi orators, poets and philosophers. The Universal Yankee Nation has a gift that way, while nine-tenths of her Majesty's subjects, like hump-back Richard, enter the world not half made up; or, at all events, leave it in that sorry plight. Then, in ascertaining that a prodigious Englishman absorbs into himself the intelligence of a whole parish of poor drivelers, let us not in the same breath deny that he is a prodigy.

But, methinks, I hear you say, enough of these un-American truths; to the point.

Among the more Essayists the light portion of the literati those who write much and prettily, but never profoundly, Washington Irving, of all our prose authors, carries the English palm. But, among the thinking, learned, original portions of the literary circles, Dr. Channing stands unrivaled. Greater numbers admire Mr. Irving; more intellect asserts the superiority of Dr. Channing. His reputation is established with those whose suffrages cannot be won by a sentimental tale, however charmingly told, or a superficial essay, though its every line be a thread of gold.

Leather-Stocking is almost as great a hero in Britain as in America. A noted barrister, who is alike conversant with Coke and the Classics, said to me, "Your Cooper is a charming writer, the Walter Scott of America." He was a proud, prejudiced Englishman, and perhaps the remark was meant quite as much for an equivocal compliment to my country, as to praise the author of the Pioneers.

I think William Cullen Bryant stands at the head of the English list of American poets. I speak with diffidence, however, when I remember that Halleck, Dana, Pierpont, and other stars in our beautiful constellation, have their admiring astrologers in the Old World. When giving Thomas Campbell a hasty extempore sketch of some of our poets, he suddenly interrupted me, and with great emphasis said, "Ah! Bryant! he is a glorious poet!"

Appropos of Campbell. He is getting old and nervous. I have met him two or three times; and either he is exceedingly conceited and very irritable, (the poet's license) or was excited with wine. Probably all three, so said his intimate acquaintances. His person is short and rather stout, his eye dark and vivid, his countenance downcast and careworn; and the sparse hair which covers his well-formed head is losing its black, glossy hue, and showing the silver tints of declining age. He paid an enthusiastic tribute to the talents of Dr. Channing, declaring his productions to be unsurpassed by any author in any country. He was very caustic on many of our poets, and delighted in holding them up to ridicule. "You Americans," said he, "write splendid prose; but your poetry is d—ble stuff." Campbell is excessively vain; and by flattery you can inflate his balloon even to bursting. Try it, C., if he ever derides American poets in your presence, and my word for it, his ridiculous antics will give you ample revenge. The books of our tourists are read more generally in Great Britain than any other portion of our current literature. John Bull though bleated with an enormous organ of self-esteem, is not exempt from the common frailty of our nature, in itching ear to hear all that is said about himself. When we tell unwelcome truths about the Bull family, John rouses his head, and calls us the prying, scandal-loving Yankees. But he never gets mad and goes himself. True, a never twinges now and then. I have in my eye a Dublin barrister, who lost his balance and quite boiled over with rage, when pointing out to me "a libel on the Irish character," penned by one of my countrymen. The leaves of the book which he held in his excited hand shivered with fear, while he poured a flood of fiery malediction on the head of the author. Though I joined issue with him on several of his counts, I was ready to confess that it required less effrontery for an American to quarrel himself in a Duke's castle for a couple of weeks than to retail, through the agency of a bookseller, his Grace's night-cap gossip after he got home.

Willis is on every body's table. Portions of his Pencilings, Jottings, &c., have been illustrated with splendid folio engravings, and the traveller meets them at every turn. His delineations of American scenery, illustrated by beautiful plates, are common. Wishing to consult his "Pencilings," I went into a circulating library in London, and inquired for the work. The shopman handed it out, saying, "A splendidly book; but you must not believe more than half of it." I laughed, and told him Willis was my countryman. "Clever, clever, clever writer," said he, "but full of mistakes." I smiled at the bibliolibrary's graceful eulogy.

Mrs. Sigourney has a large levy of English admirers. I think she is more generally known than any other of our authoresses. Her poetry is well esteemed by the religious part of the literati. A lady whose works have been widely read in this country, said to me, "I have been delighted with Mrs. Sigourney's writings." She is the American Felicia Hemans.

The compilations of Sparks are read by a select few; and Marshall's Washington, the Orations of Gov. Everett, and the Forensic Arguments of Daniel Webster, are often found in gentlemen's libraries.

Of Webster, in passing. Our great citizen left a deep impression on English society. I shall say deeper than any other American who ever visited the land of our sires? The influence he exerted here was eminently favorable to our country. His name is quite a household word in all classes. I have been amused, as well as gratified, a hundred times, in hearing him spoken of. The lawyer's clerk would describe his imposing appearance the day he visited the Court of Chancery, attended by Lord Brougham, and sat beside Chancellor Cottonham. The physiologist would talk enthusiastically of his ample forehead, and the painter of his piercing eye and eloquent mouth. The agriculturist remembered his intelligent remarks about seeds and crops, and the coachman on the Dover route tells of his shrewd criticisms of his blood-team; while the cockney, who had heard of Dr. Johnson, would talk of Webster's dictionary! Not merely the circle in which he moved knew Mr. Webster, the profound and comprehensive lawyer, and the eloquent Senator, but the masses heard of the "distinguished American," from the land of prairie and wild Indians.

Though I will not stay to speak of the heavier class of authors, living and dead, the Edwards, the Dwights, the Sillimans, the Noah Websters, &c. I cannot forbear saying that our religious literature, current and past, bears wide sway in Great Britain, and that the "American Dictionary of the English Language," is esteemed the best standard extant both at Cambridge and Oxford. And I know you will rejoice to hear me add, that an American lawyer, treading the venerable mazes of Westminster Hall, will find the name of Story a ready passport to favours and attentions which he could not otherwise easily obtain. MASHATTAN.

A New Idea.

Steam is raised in boilers as much by the conducting power of the iron sides of the boilers, as by the contact of flame with iron immediately under the water. Iron pins are now driven through the upper floor of the boiler so as to be partly in the fire and partly in the water. Steam is raised with increased rapidity and economy.

The Pension.

Oh, yes, 'tis kind to give it, for I could not earn my bread. I have no heart nor strength to work, for Willie, 'he is dead! But take it, take it back again! the price of blood I see!

The guardian, lover, husband; gone, oh, what is gold to me? I threw my arms around him, and I begged him not to go; Sure others not so dear as he, as well could meet the foe;

The tears dashed down his manly cheek; the little ones did pray, "Dear father! we will both be good, if you will only stay!"

I sought the glittering sword to wrest, the gorgeous sash untie, "Oh, where is light or joy for me, my Willie, if you die?"

I love my country, but oh, more the husband of my youth; Oh, Willie, stay, and death itself shall prove my love—and truth!"

The haughty plume, the golden chains, elaborate dress of death. How did the trappings seem to mock our quivering, paring breath!

I tried the gaudy dress to loose, each clasp was faintly set; I shrieked in agony again, "My Willie, go not yet!"

And thrice his choking voice essayed, in vain, a whisper low; He held his tighter, tighter still; methought "he will not go!"

I then bursting from his inmost soul, there came a direful cry, "I leave you, leave you helpless ones, I leave you all alone!"

"My heart is broken if I go, my honor, if I stay; And a coward's name is yours and our little one's, this day! I know I shall not come again, for I must front the van!"

I fear not death, but oh, your love, these children, they unman!"

Then suddenly, oh suddenly, he thrust the tears aside; He rushed away, he rushed away and in the battle died!

And there, all trampled in the dust, he lies there where he fell, And I not by to staunch his wounds, nor hear his last farewell!"

The widow and the orphan now, a stricken, helpless band. We linger round the battle field, our wail moves o'er the land, "I know I shall not come again!" 'Twas the last he said!

Oh, we give us of your treasures, but ye bring not back the dead! N. Y. American.

From Florida. More Indian Murders.

The Savannah Georgian announces the death of Lieut. Cannet who died at Palfka 30th ult. Lieut. Sprague had arrived at Fort King with a number of Indians part of them belonging to the Arkansas delegation seeking to open a communication with Halluck's Troop.

On the 24th Oct near Magnolia, the Indians attacked a party from that neighborhood on their way to St. Marks and Port Leon, and out of a party of 7 or 8, three gentlemen were killed, Messrs Wiley W. Wood, Spooner and Henry Horn.

Mrs. Spooner was riding alongside of Mr. Wood at the moment the Indians rose out of the palmetto brush and fired upon the party, with her littleron behind her; but she was not injured, and wheeled her horse and safely escaped out of their reach.

The Indians rifled the pockets of the dead. It is supposed that they got a booty of six or seven hundred dollars, more than enough to encourage the wretches to make another attack on some poor traveller who may fall in their power.

From St. Thomas.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia National Gazette, writing under date of October 27th, says that on the voyage there, on the morning of the 5th of Oct. in the latitude of 36° 27' North, and longitude of 73° 45' West, fell in with the brig Calo, of Boston, lying too under a double reefed mainsail, and with colors flying in the main rigging the sea was so high that it was impossible to board her, but hailed several times and got no answer. The greater part of her bulwarks were gone, and apparently had had her decks swept, and by all appearances was abandoned.

The ship Flavia, of Newburyport, arrived on the 24th, in 31 days from Liverpool; the J. W. Cater arrived on the 26th, after touching at St. Croix; the brig David Duffell was to leave for Barbadoes the day the letter was written. She put in there with the loss of fore and main topmasts.

From Havana.

Advices are to the 27th ult. The rumors we have in this country of the cession of Cuba to Great Britain, is laughed at as being without the shadow of a foundation.

On the 24th ult. a cargo of African negroes were landed about three miles from the city, at mid-day, showing that these things are done tolerably public. Four hundred and seventy composed the cargo.

The markets for American produce were overstocked with almost every article. Flour $13 per bbl. Lard 11c per lb. Pork no sale. Sugars very high and scarce.

THE GREGG OUTRAGE. The Montreal Gazette says, "We understand that, in pursuance of the directions of Sir Richard Jackson, the administrator of the Government and Commander of the Forces, a Court Martial was held on Mr. Johnston, an officer of Col. Over's corps, for participating in the capture of Gregg, in the territories of the United States; and that, having pleaded guilty, and after addressing the Court, in mitigation of punishment he was sentenced to be discharged from the corps."

LAUNCHED, at Richmond, first of October the superior Copper fastened Ship "RICHMOND" 410 tons burthen, owned by Capt. Wm. Patton, Capt. Geo. F. Mustard, Saml. F. Blair, Esq. and others. She was launched from the yard of Capt. Wm. Patton, and is of elegant model and superior workmanship. This ship is designed for the freighting trade and is to be commanded by Capt. Geo. F. Mustard. DIED.
In this city, on the morning of the 12th, at day break, Samuel Jackson, son of Rev. John Hall, aged 1 year and 11 months.
Lined on the Death of a Child at Daybreak.

BY THE REV. RICHARD CROFT.
"Let me go, for the day breaketh." Gen. xxix. 7
Cease here longer to detain me,
Kindest mother, drowned in woe,
Now thy kind carcases pain me;
Morn advances—let me go.

See yon orient streak appearing;
Harbinger of endless day;
Hark! a voice the darkness cheering,
Calls my new-born soul away!

Lately launched a trembling stranger,
On this world's wide boisterous flood,
Pierced with sorrow, laid with danger,
Gladly I return to God.

Now my cries shall cease to grieve thee,
Now my troubling heart doth rest;
Kinder than thou thou receive me,
Suffer pillow than thy breast.

Weep not o'er these eyes that languish,
Upward turning toward their home;
Raptures they'll forget all anguish,
While they wait to see thee come.

There my mother, pleasures centre
Weeping, parting, care or woe,
Ne'er our Father's house abate enter—
Morn advances—let me go!

As through this calm and holy dawning,
Silent glides thy parting breath,
To an EVERLASTING MORNING,
Gently close my eyes in death.

Blessings, endless, richest blessings
Four their streams upon thy heart!
(Though no language yet possessing)
Breathes my spirit, O my part.

Yet to leave these sorrowing remembrance,
Now again his voice I hear;
Rise! may every grace attend thee,
Kiss, and seek to meet me there!
